BEIRUT: "Lea, Beirut, Lebanon," 2019, is among the images to be shown in "An Image and Her Woman," an exhibition of work by Lebanese/Palestinian-born photographer Rania Matar, curated by Rico Frances. Drawing upon work from five past series, the exhibition traces the development of womanhood from pre-puberty to middle age. The show opens on Jan. 20 at 6 p.m. and runs through Feb. 15 at the American University of Beirut's Bank Byblos Art Gallery, Ada Dodge Hall. – The Daily Star
